

Article Title

Khoo Teck Puat Hospital clinches BCA gold award

One of CPG Consultants' projects, the Khoo Teck Puat Hospital (KTPH), has been reported in The Business Times.

KTPH is the first hospital to win the Building and Construction Authority's (BCA) gold award for user-friendly building design. One of the winners at BCA's 5th Universal Design Awards, it won the only gold award conferred, announced yesterday.

KTPH in Yishun boasts of lush greenery and water features, which were created to relieve patients' anxiety and hasten their recovery.

The news article, "Khoo Teck Puat Hospital clinches BCA gold award", also highlights that the annual Universal Design Awards recognise building owners and architects who create a seamless and friendly built environmental that addresses the varying needs of people, including those with different physical abilities.

Source: "Khoo Teck Puat Hospital clinches BCA gold award" The Business Times. 19 April 2011.